Dear MEP Fajon,

I write regarding the status of your party headquarters at Levstikova 15 in Ljubljana, Slovenia.

As you may be aware the home was originally constructed by the Slovenian-Jewish merchant Felix Moskovic. In 1943, Mr. Moskovic and his family were taken to Auschwitz and other extermination camps, where they tragically perished together with millions of other European Jews during the Holocaust. Following their deaths, the property at Levstikova 15 was sold under questionable conditions, nationalized, and then used by high-level communist party organizations during the Yugoslav era.

It has come to our attention that there has previously been a discussion regarding the transfer of Mr. Moskovic's property at Levstikova 15 to the Slovenian Jewish community as part of a settlement on communal and heirless property once held by Slovenian Jews murdered during the Holocaust.

We believe this would be an appropriate, just, and moral use of Mr. Moskovic's home and a righting of a historic wrong.

We sincerely hope you and your party will recognize the symbolic and emotional unsustainability of the status quo and will work with us to change it.

I look forward to hearing from you,

Yours faithfully,

Rabbi Menachem Margolin
Chairman
